Republican Ratifying. The republicans are quite well, thank you They were out for a little time last night They had it, too, and are still in the ring Their cup of joy had been running over for several days. They acted on the poet's advice, to "Let joy be unconflued." They took off the pressure last night and "let 'er rip." It looked and sounded as though the town was going to pieces. She was rather ragged around the edges after the demonstration, but is supposed to be all here, unless the democrats discovered that the chunks were oose. The republicans had the freedom of the city, and they took the whole street. Even the arrogant street car "took back" for once, and many a fellow regretted that the mayor had not been run over earlier in the campaign. The republicans had a jollification. That is a simple statement of fact. It was a howling, a lucid success, but the right kind of adjectives to fitly describe it have not yot been discovered. Flags and fire, horns and hurrah, hosts and hosts of them, swept the streets and drew thousands of eyes in fascinated gaze upon the maeistrom of human enthusiasm. Over the marching columns floated a sea of flame with its ripples dancing in happy unison to the joyous shouts of the men below. The air above was filled with a bewildering network of colored balls and dazzling Showers of golden sparks produced an effect that might have tempted that eminent rain-bow chaser, Chairman Brice, and now and hen an aristogratic rocket reared its lordly head to look down upon the lesser lights i noment before bursting and taking a tumble to itself. Flags were everywhere and made to do every conceivable service in the decoration of men, horses, carriages, banners and transparencies. The paraders were almost snowed under with the profusion of red. white and blue. If pandemonium has any noises that were not let loose last night there must have been some mistake in the count, for it was evident that the full assortment had been ordered. There were thousands of tin horns, most of them suffering with bad colds or singing falsetto, but the general effect when they were all going together was bleaded into a chorus for the other car splitters, and the music was finely attuned-for republican tympanums. Cowbells made a merry lingle. Great gongs added a note of clamor. Big cymbals, each two feet across and requiring a whole boy to itself, put in a good-sized tinkle for the money. Clagners were in the racket, and the soul-harrowing tin can with a waxed string through the bottom gave all the touch of Wagnerian discord needed for artistic fiftish. Capping the climax was an upright steam engine, rigged with a number of whistles, which were operated by cords and made a tolerable callope. Add to these sundry expressions of joy, a diferious huzza twenty blocks and an hour and a half long from the throats of thousands of wildly enthusiastic men, punctuate it with side runs of "Rah! Rah! Jurah for Harrison!" and similar should throw in the encouraging remarks of thousands of sympathizers the line of march, imagine a dozen bands in a magnificent effort to be heard and occas-ionally getting a bom-bom from the bass drum above the roar, and one has something of an idea of the "time" that was had. The column was formed on Harney street.

It started at Eleventh and the divisious dropped into line from the side streets. The parade was up Harney to Sixteenth, to Farnam, to Eleventh, to Douglas, to Sixteenth and countermarch to Eleventh, to Dodge and to Sixteenth. The windows along the line of march were filled with spectators and flut-tering handkerchiels, and numbers of buildings were decorated or illuminated. As on a former occasion the Eiks club and the Millard hotel bore off the palm in this particular. The parade was reviewed by a party of distinguished persons in the balcony of the Millard, who were recognized by re-doubled efforts at the huzzas. Among the party were Governor Thayer, ex-Senator Saunders and wife, Congressman-elect Con-nell and wife, Congressman Dorsey, Attorney General Leese, Land Commissioner Scott, Superintendent Gillespie, of the Deaf and Dumb institution, City Attorney Web-ster and Chairman Richards, of the republi-can state committee. Among the other on-lookers were Hou. A. R. Graham, of Wiener, Captain Palmer, of Plattsmouth, Doctor Stone of Wahoo, Mr. John Jensen of Fair mont, Judge Hamer of Kearney and Mr. Henry Furhman of Fremont. One of the most notable features of the parade was the ladies' morehing clubs. They were honored with a place at the head of the column. On the line of march they were cheered continuously from the two walls of onlooking humanity that inclosed the column, and on the counter-march the male paraders paid homage with their intensest yells. The bank cierks of Omaha gallantly constituted themselves the body guard of the Wahoo ladies by forming a column double file on either side of the latter. At the close of the parade the Glen-wood ladies performed a serpantine march in front of the Millard amid a throng of admirers. Further up the street the Platts-mouth ladies went through a drill, and the butchers of South Omaha were drawn up in line to observe their maneuvers. Still be-yond these was the Omaha Flambeau club executing its drill. As usual Captain Frank Kaspar's organization was an important feature of the demonstration and added greatly to its effect.

Transparencies and Decorations. Wahoo Ladies' Club-The ladies were astefully dressed in national colors and on their banners were: "We did not vote, but the men did." "Wahoo got Thayer." "Carry the news to Frankie." "Good-by, Grover, Good-by." This was a democratic banner "Could not vote, but sent a substionce." tute." "In memoriam, prohibition, second daughter of democracy, died November 6."

Bank Clerks-The Omaha bank clerks had profusion of miniature flags, with which they decorated their hats. "Not enough democratic votes, Mr. Cleveland." "Hurrah, boys, hurrah." "The stars and stripes are on Glenwood Ladies' club, a band of ladies modestly attired, and carrying a beautiful banner with a picture of Harrison on one side and Morton on the other side.

"Morton is sailing up Salt river, he is walling." "We have Connell now, for, Manderson," "We sympathize with the Cooden club—in a horn." (A large picture of a horn.) "Compliments of Lord Sackville." "Cleveland, your name is Dennis." "There are no (pictures of) files on this club." "Protection won the day." A beautiful silk banner with a fine picture of Hon. James G. Blaine.

The horses drawing the three carriages from the Turf and Field exchange, were comparisoned with Harrison and Morton emblems. "Good-bye Jack, good-bye," "Turn the rascals out fount the money." "The state of Montana, the state of Washington, the state of North Dakota."

Sixth Ward Republican club—"It was useless, Mills." "Alas! poor democracy died, killed by the tariff." "Good-bye, good-bye." "One term for a president is enough."—G. Cleveland." "Grover, Grover you turned over." "Daniel I heard something drop."—Grover Cleveland."

The Fifth ward club had a large transparency representing Cleveland attempting to stand on both protection and free trade. Others were marked, "Grover's pants will soon fit Benny." "Cleveland's name is Third Ward Republican club-"Americans will rule America." "The veto power wiget a rest." "Boodle can't carry Nebraska. "England, you can have Mr. Cleveland."

"We laugh this time, you laughed last time."
"Hurrah for Tammany." "Died, November "Hurrah for Tammany." "Died, November 6, Grover's luck," "Delawaro sends a re publican senator."

Sixth Ward Republican club—"Let all re-joice, right wins again." "I shall send a Benjamin and save my people from the Phil-istines." "Grandpa's pants (a cut of a pair of trousers) don't fit." "Republican rule twenty-five years, two cents short, Democratic rule four years, two cents short, Deluo-cratic rule four years, will it only twelve cents!" "West, Oh West, you gave me away." "Who is Murchison G. Buce!" "You bet we'll turn the rascals out." "Solid outh busted.

Eighth ward-"R. S. Berlin." "We'll make a change in business all round." same old bird once more to the front." "Next two Dakotos."
The Flambeau club carried a fine Harrison and Morton banner, a large broom to sweep clean and a flag.

The South Omahas -"Omaha butchers skinned Grover." "South Omaha held a fair election and gave an honest vote." "South Omaha vote could not be bought."

A large cut of a packing house with the names of "Armour & Co., Omaha Packing company, Swift & Co. and Howard & Co. pay good wages and protect their workmen."

The Millard club, forty strong and in charge of Captain Ed Plumber. They represented the republican element among the Millard hotel waiters, and presented a fine

About thirty ladies, of the Colored Ladies

Republican club, came next, and with their flags, brooms and regalia formed one of the features of the parade, showing that while they did not neglect household duties, they had time enough to teach the men how to vote, and then see that they did it. The Douglas precinct horse brigade was next in the line of march and brought it to a finish. Eighty-six members were present in charge of Captain Charles E. Hill, and in their red, white and blue uniforms, mounted on sturdy looking steeds, they were a fitting representation of the men who had won the victory they were celebrating.

THE COUNT FINISHED. The Canvassing Board Completes Its

Labors. The canvassing board completed its labors yesterday afternoon. The work up to noon has been published in THE BEE. The result of the investigation in the afternoon is as follows:

The count of Jefferson precinct was pro ceeded with. The examination of the bailot box disclosed the fact that the returns were in the official envelope, but not sealed, otherwise they were to the complete satisfaction to the objectors. The count showed no change. When R. O'Keeffe's vote of 133 out of a possible 139 votes was announced, a de feated candidate who was present asked: "Dick how did you do it! You might have Another suggested something about "two ogs of beer."

The returns from Eikhorn presented much the same appearance as those from Jefferson, the vote being the same as that already announced.

In Valley precinct, the poll books and tally sheets were not sealed, but the ballots were. After Major Furay had made a note in his diary to that effect, the countwas taken with the result that nothing striking was developed in the way of change. In Waterloo precinct the jurat was found not to be complete, a clerk having failed to sign, and the ballots were not sealed. The count was, however, taken without startling suits or material alteration. The poll books and tally sheets in Chicago precinct were not scaled, but the returns were properly signed and the jurnt legally attached. The ballots, however, were securely fastened. The count was fluished without remark. West Omaha, the last precinct to be canvassed, showed that the returns were signed, but the jurat was not attached. The ballots were scaled. With the count of this precinct the duties of the canvassing board terminated, apparently much to the relief of the gentlemen comprising it.

Immediately after the clerk of the canvassing board had recorded the last figures of the inst precinct to be canvassed and the board had thought their labors ended, T. J. Mahoney jumped to his feet and asked that the poll book of the First district of the Second vard be re-examined

This request caused some little excitement among the crowd present, nobody knowing what was about to turn up.

The request was granted and Clerk Roche brought in the ballot box. Then Mahoney said he simply wanted to know what Mr.

Gurley's vote in that district was, and, or being informed seventy-nine and replying "that's all," the excitement subsided. Major Furay then took the floor and introduced the following resolution, being inter-rupted in his reading by Clerk Roche, Whereas, This board of canyassers have in the cases of the six votes of the Second South Omaha for preference of United States senator, appearing on the tally list but not carried on the election returns, and similarly in the case of Chicago precinct, where the tally list showed that two votes given, one each in favor of union labor and prohibition candidates, but which said votes were not carried out by the election officers of the precinct, held unanimously that they cannot go behind the returns presented for us to canvass and in the case of the first dis-trict of the First ward of Omaha and Florence precincts, where no tally lists at all ac companied the returns it was unanimously held by the board that such tally lists are not necessary nor any part of the returns, and Whereas. The pursuance of this rule of action re-established, there being no return of any kind received from the Second dis-trict of the First ward, and, as the board holds that from these returns only can we make a proper and lawful canvass, I move that the figures taken from the tally sheets in said districts be not included in the aggregate of the vote of Douglas county.

After Furay had finished reading his reso ution he asked for a second.

Mr. Roche reptied: "You'll get no second Mr. Roche replied: "You'll get no second from this side of the house."

The whole board argued for some time, all speaking at the same time, in which the on-

Furay not succeeding in getting a secoud, the motion was lost.
Immediately afterward Mr. Roche introduced the following:
Resolved, That the abstract of votes, as they now appear on the record, be the official vote of Donglas county when the result is ooted up. Major Dennis seconded the motion. It was arried, and the board separated without FOUND DEAD. An Unknown Man Suicides in the Pacific Hotel.

Shortly before midnight last night a mar was found dead in a chamber of the Pacific hotel on South Ninth street, near Jackson hotel on South Ninth street, near Jackson. Upon investigating it developed that the man met his death by a dose of morphine, evidently administered by his own hand with suicidal intent. A bottle of the deadly substance was found in the bed where he was lying. Nothing concerning his name, or from whence he came, could be learned about the hotel. The proprietor stated that he came there late Friday night. stated that he came there late Friday and for some unaccountable reason failed to register. He was a middle aged man and fairly clad in dark-colored habiliments. The remains were taken in charge by the coroner and an investigation will be made to-day in view of establishing his identity. The Canvass Completed.

The Canvass Completed.

The board of canvassers of the returns of Douglas county completed their work last evening. There was no change in the general result as published in The Bre, save in the legislative ticket, which the board found to be as follows:

McMillan (dem.), Snyder (dem.), Cushing (dem.), Neve (dem.), Fenne (dem.), Hungate (dem.), Gardner (dem.), Morrissey (dem.) and Berlin (rep.).

Washington, Nov. 10.—The United States consul at Lisbon has informed the depart-ment of state that the duty on wheat floor imported into Portugal has been lowered from 30 to 34 reis a kilogram. About twenty members of Marathon Lodge No. 82, K. of P., visited Enterprise Lodge of South Omaha Thursday evening, November 8, to confer the Oriental degree upon the members of that lodge. Fifteen reached that degree after which lunch was served and a huge time enjoyed.

SPLITTING THE SOLID SOUTH.

How the Process So Well Begun Will Be Continued.

THE BLAIR EDUCATIONAL BILL.

A Fair Prospect That It Will Become a Law During the Present Session-Paying Election Bets-No Sincoure.

The Congressional Outlook. WASHINGTON BUREAU THE OMAHA BEE, 1513 FOURTHENTH STREET, WASHINGTON, D. C., NOV. 10.

A conviction has settled down upon the politicians in Washington which is growing more widespread as they become more common here, that the next house is certain to pass the education bill. All those who know General Harrison are confident that he will nake no attempt to crush the south. They generally agree that he will do all in his power to increase the breach which has been made in its solidity by the success of the republican ticket in West Virginia by a conciliatory policy. There are several of the southern states which are anxiously awaiting the time when congress will give aid to their by the enactment of some such bill as that proposed by Scnator Blair, and as that measure has already passed the senate, there is a chance that it may be enacted into a law before the present congress comes to an end. It is in the educational committee and has been there for months, with slim prospects of seeing daylight, but the success of the republican party this year will probably serve to induce the committee to report it back. There is a majority of the house in favor of it, and if it ever comes up for action it will no doubt be passed at this session.

Those unhappy clerks and other residents of Washington who backed their opinions that Cleveland would be reelected with their money have nearly all paid over their losses. Those whose confidence induced them to take other ways of expressing their convictions are arranging to perform the terms of their wagers. Among the latter is a young man who will enliven the inhabitants of Washington to-morrow by wheeling his of Washington to-morrow by wheeling his girl in an elaborately decorated wheelbarrow through the streets of the city.

One of the queerest bets of which there is any record is reported from the village of East Aurora, N. Y. A young business man there, who had wagered about everything he had on Harrison's election, was accepted by a drummer from Syracuse who desired to back Cleveland. A plan was finally agreed upon by which the loser agreed to take off his trousers and present them to the winner wherever they might meet. The East Aurora man is now looking for the drummer and says he will try to meet him in the streets of Buffalo.

Few college professors would be able to fill the bill.

HOW THE STATE PRESS TOOK IT.

Springfield Monitor: The result was full of suprises. Fremont Herald: We would have got New ork if it hadn't rained. Sutton Register: The brigadiers have met heir second Appomattox.

North Bend Flail: The Irishman holds the palance of power in America.

Blair Pilot: It was in the air; even demorats smelled it for weeks back. Beatrice Democrat: It is principle and not office that the democrats work for.

Blair Republican: The masses have no ause for apprehension in this revolution. Nebraska City Press: The United States republican, and New Jersey democratic.

Nebraska City News: Well, it is free whisky and tobacco and higher priced cloth-Fairmont Signal: Once more the nation nas been wrested from the hands of ite despoilers. York Times: Free trade, southern dominaion, sham reform and speculation with the public funds have done the democrats up. Bloomington Guard: While President Cleveland has looked sharply after the southern vote he seemed to ignore or forget there was also a north and west. Plattsmouth Herald: It took but four short years of trial to place this party before the country in its true light, and with all odds in its fayor it has been hurled from power by the business and labor interests of the country.

RUMORS OF A STRIKE. That is What Floats in the Air in Railway Circles. A current rumor was put affoat late last night to the effect that the local order of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers had decided to inaugurate a general strike in that order on all roads centering in Omaha. The reason given was that a number of non-brotherhood men were being furnished employment by the various roads leading in and out of this place. Several of the local order were seen late last night, but nothing definite in this direction could be learned. While they denied that no steps had been taken thus far, they did not deny that it was being considered. A secret meeting of the brotherhood was held at the headquarters of that order last night, but just what was accomplished could not be ascertained.

A Deeply Insulted Citizen. Chicago Times:-"I challenge that

The voter, one of the best known, most dignified, perpendicular, and thoroughly bomb proof citizens in the recinct, who had voted there at every election for twenty-five years, looked fiercely around to see what presumptuous upstart had spoken. "Who challenges my vote?" he demanded. There was no reply, and he was in the act of tendering his ballot again when the same voice was heard: "I tell you I challenge that vote."

"You impudent scoundre!!" exclaimed the enraged citizen, "where are you? Stand out so I can see you."
Nobody stood out, and nobody in the crowd seemed to know who the chalenger was. A third time the well-known voter endered his ballot, and a third time the voice rang out "I Challenge him! if that old rascal votes I'll have him sent to Joliet!,,

And while the insulted American overeign, foaming with rage, was glaring over his gold-rimmed spectacles in a vain effort to locate his tormentor, a small man in a long ulster, known to his intimate friends as Sig McFroni, the celebrated ventriloquist, quietly slipped out of the crowd and went away.
